总评

整体表现良好，内容充实，结构清晰，但语言细节和表达自然度有提升空间。

考生能完整描述迷路经历，包含地点、事件、感受和解决方法，逻辑连贯。但存在语法错误（如时态不一致）和部分表达不够地道，影响流畅度。

评分详情

流利度	6.5
词汇	6.5
语法	6.0
发音	6.5

本次亮点

- 故事结构完整，覆盖所有提示点
- 细节丰富，如'grey tiled roofs'、'stone arch bridge'

主要问题

- 语法时态不一致，如'had talked'应为'talked'

- 情感描述真实，从calm到anxiety再到relieved

- 部分表达不地道，如'explained my situation in simple Chinese'
- 回答开头直接使用cue card prompts作为段落标题，不够自然

下次练习目标

练习使用更自然的过渡句连接段落，避免直接复制提示词；纠正时态错误，确保过去时一致。

Question 1: Describe an occasion when you lost your way

▷ 重答此题

迷路

I'd like to describe a time when I lost my way during a trip to an ancient town with my best friend, Li Ming, about two years ago. It's a small, charming place in southern China, famous for its stone bridges, old alleyways and traditional houses. What happened We decided to explore the old town on foot without a clear map. The streets were extremely narrow and winding, and almost all the buildings looked identical—grey tiled roofs and white walls. We were so busy taking photos and admiring the local snacks that we didn't notice we'd walked too far. Suddenly, I realized Li Ming was no longer beside me. I called his name but got no reply. I tried to retrace my steps, but every alley looked the same, and I had no idea which way to go. I was totally disoriented. How I felt At first, I felt calm and even a little excited, as if I was on an adventure. But soon, anxiety and panic set in. It was late afternoon, and the sky was turning dark. There were fewer people around, and I was worried I might not find my friend or the way back to our hotel. I also felt a bit foolish for not paying more attention to the route. How I found my way I took a deep breath and tried to stay calm. I remembered our hotel was near a big stone arch bridge. So I walked towards the direction where I'd seen that bridge earlier. After about 20 minutes, I still couldn't find it. Then I noticed an elderly local woman selling handmade souvenirs. I went up to her, explained my situation in simple Chinese, and showed her the hotel's name on my phone. She was very kind. She pointed to a hidden alley and told me to walk straight for five minutes, then turn left, and I'd see the bridge. I followed her directions, and sure enough, I found the bridge soon after. There, I spotted Li Ming looking for me. We were both so relieved to see each other. This experience taught me the importance of staying calm when in trouble and not being afraid to ask locals for help.

问题所在

回答开头直接使用 'What happened' 作为段落标题，显得生硬，不符合自然口语习惯。

改进建议

用过渡句自然引出事件，如 'Let me tell you what exactly happened.'

答题结构

开头：介绍时间、地点、人物 → 事件：描述迷路过程 → 感受：从平静到焦虑 → 解决：保持冷静、求助当地人 → 结尾：感悟

内容缺口

未提及迷路的具体时间（如下午几点）和周围环境细节（如天气、声音），使场景不够生动。

示例升级

It was around 4 p.m., and the narrow alleys were getting quieter as the sun began to set. I could hear my own footsteps echoing off the old stone walls.

I found myself completely disoriented

every alley looked identical

I took a moment to collect myself

I approached a local for directions

Question 2: Have you ever told this story to anyone else?

▷ 重答此题

Part 2 结束后的简短追问

yes. I had talked to my mum.

问题所在

回答过于简短，且存在语法错误（'had talked' 应为 'talked'），缺乏细节和扩展。

改进建议

扩展回答，说明为什么告诉妈妈、她的反应或你从分享中得到的收获。

答题结构

直接回答（是/否）→ 告诉谁 → 为什么告诉 → 对方的反应或你的感受

内容缺口

未说明告诉妈妈的原因（如寻求安慰、分享经历）以及她的反应（如担心、觉得有趣）。

示例升级

Yes, I told my mum about it right after I got back to the hotel. She was a bit worried at first, but then she laughed and said I should always carry a map.

I shared the story with my mum

she was relieved to hear I was safe

she gave me some practical advice
